The Woodstock Invitational Luthier's Showcase, held October 24 and October 25 at the Bearsville Theater wowed an audience over the two days of about 1000 people. Guitar makers mingled with the public and their peers as they displayed their finery. Entertainment took place in the lounge, including stunning shows by the legendary jazz guitarist Eddie Diehl (on his D'Angelico archtop) and Ilya Lushtak; Vic Juris on a Ken Parker archtop, and Larry Campbell on a Linda Manzer baritone guitar. Baker Rorick, who promoted the show, says to look for the third annual next year to be the best yet. ++
